Laces.

Attention of all Beachmasters is drawn to the tendency of personnel to lace their boots in a "criss-cross" fashion, this is not uniform and must be stopped. The correct method is to lace the boots "across" and knots should not be visible below the gaiters.

Encouragement of interest in Current Affairs

Attention of all Beachmasters is drawn to C.A.P.O. 2206/42

Steps should be taken as far as practicable to interest Beach Parties in current affairs. It is realised that it is difficult to find time to organise discussions and informal talks and that not every officer is a born lecturer, but the matter is important and should be so treated.

No. 38.

Advancement - Ordinary Seaman
to Able Seaman.

Advancement is governed by the following:-

(a) Service.

A minimum of 9 months' of which 4 must be sea-time (Combined Operations service counts as sea-time) to a maximum of 12 months. This scope is permitted to allow the accelerated advancement of various ratings who are considered above the average, APO 400/40. A number of ratings were penalized by the foregoing owing to lack of sea-time which they could not complete owing to no fault of their own. Hence the introduction of a clause to state that a rating could be advanced to Acting A.B. after 12 months in the service irrespective of sea-time. On completion of four months sea-time at some future date the rating is confirmed as A.B.

(b) Examination.

All ratings should pass a qualifying examination before being recommended for A.B. Sometimes this examination is taken before the rating becomes eligible from a time factor, but the result of the examination should be communicated to "ARMADILLO" for notation on his Service Certificate, together with a recommendation as to whether the rating concerned is recommended for advancement after 9, 10, 11 or 12 months. It is emphasized that only ratings of very superior ability will merit advancement after 9 months service. A good rating should be recommended at 10 months, 11 months' an average rating, 12 months - fair.
